

About Julie-Anne

British born Julie-Anne Shapiro is the CEO and founder of Magnetizing Love. She is an International Love and Relationship Expert and Speaker and provides a range of products, live events and private coaching programs to help conscious single women to attract and keep an extraordinary relationship with the love of their life. Julie-Anne has led live events in the USA, UK, Australia, India and Bali, Indonesia, and carries out her own private practice working with women throughout the world. She has also been featured in numerous media outlets including The Huffington Post, Daily Mail, Daily Telegraph, Daily Express and BBC radio.

Through Magnetizing Love Julie-Anne helps women to overcome the obstacles that might be standing in the way of them attracting their true love. In reality, this is often because people are focused on finding the right person, but through Magnetizing Love, Julie-Anne enables individuals to be the right person, and in doing so become attractive to the kind of person they would like in their life. Using the techniques Julie-Anne teaches, women then attract the partner they want and she is responsible for many long-term relationships, engagements and marriages.

After years of struggling in relationships herself, Julie-Anne left the UK to embark on her own healing journey and train as a love and relationship expert. Using the principles she learned she attracted her now husband at the age of 41. Her inspiring personal story and warm engaging style never fail to leave her audiences wanting more.

Blending her background and skills as a life-coach and therapist, she developed her own programs and now shares the techniques with thousands of women worldwide.

Leading with her unique blend of compassion, radiance, embodied magnetism and manifesting mojo as well as her extensive knowledge and expertise, Julie-Anne provides women with real world, actionable content. She works from the inside out to give her clients an experience of embodied, lasting transformation for not just a relationship but an extraordinary relationship that lasts a lifetime.

Julie-Anne's background includes working with women and men on a physical, emotional and spiritual level through a range of modalities she offered as part of her business: For the Love of Life over a period of 11 years. These included personal fitness training, nutrition, massage, life-coaching, stress-therapy, lifestyle management, breathwork and bodywork.

Julie-Anne has extensively traveled the world working with and learning from leading experts in the fields of relationships, communication, non-violent communication, spirituality, holistic healing, breathwork and bodywork.

She has appeared as a guest speaker on numerous radio shows and online events, and has shared the stage with many top international relationship experts including Arielle Ford, Dr. Pat Allen and Stephen and Ondrea Levine. She was host to the wildly popular speaker series: "How to Magnetize the Love of Your Life: 8 Steps to Your Beloved's Arms." During the series she interviewed 40 experts as well as presented her own talks. The series reached thousands of people around the globe.

A spontaneous, adventurous and "gutsy" character, a few years ago Julie-Anne gave everything up to fulfill her dream of seeing the world and went backpacking for several years. She managed to visit each continent and around 90 countries! It was while she was traveling that Julie-Anne discovered her passion for skydiving and went on to gain her international skydiving license.

Julie-Anne loves to sing and has regularly performed with various bands and as a soloist. She is currently part of a very dynamic gospel choir, taking part in performances countrywide.

Her very favorite things include singing, hugs, flying, traveling, mornings running along the ocean, and all things about love!

Julie-Anne now lives with her husband Gary in Los Angeles, California.

She is passionate about helping as many women as possible to have not just a relationship, but an extraordinary relationship that lasts a lifetime.

Julie-Anne Shapiro

Phone: (001) 310 465 8612 (USA) or (+44) (0) 7058 582226 (UK)

Email: julianne@magnetizinglove.com

Website: www.magnetizinglove.com