

Magnetizing Love

Your True Love is Waiting for YOU!

My Story

Once upon a time there was a woman. She was pretty, petite and going on forty.

She had always been interested in personal growth and development and over the years had taken many workshops and courses, always looking to better herself. She had also turned this passion into her work and helped people as a life-coach and therapist.

She had work she loved, lots of friends, a busy social life and she was physically fit and healthy. One thing was missing...LOVE.

It seemed that love eluded her and the harder she tried, the more impossible it seemed. She kept attracting unavailable and unsuitable men over and over again.

She kept herself busy, always trying out the latest dating site or singles events. She noticed that her dates never lead to anything more. At night she would cry herself to sleep thinking she would be alone forever.

She started to think there must be something wrong with her and became deeply resigned to not ever having the love she yearned for. She would see her friends getting married and wonder what they had that she didn't.

Years of struggle, heartbreak and disappointments added to endless searching and personal growth work left her feeling confused, disillusioned and lonely.

Yet throughout her pain, she intuitively felt that it was leading her somewhere and that one day she would teach women about love and relationships although she had no idea how that would happen.

Then one day she had an "epiphany" moment in the middle of the night in her native England. She knew she must take radical action.

Right there and then she made the decision that she would do whatever it takes to change her experience. She made the commitment that she would not die without having the deep, fulfilling relationship she craved.

Giving up her life, home and work in the UK and risking everything for love, she embarked on a deep healing journey which led her to America. She found her own love mentors to support her along the way and lived and breathed the principles she now teaches. She also became a love-coach herself and began developing her work.

In April 2009 she set a radical intention to meet her husband by the end of the year with not a hint of love on the horizon!

Facing many severe challenges and setbacks along the way and with time, money and her visa running out, she reached a crisis of faith having given up everything to manifest her intention.

However she did not give up.

She met her husband in Los Angeles on December 23rd 2009 – just eight days before her intended deadline!

Meanwhile he had recently had a strong intuition to get back in touch with the friend who introduced them...and had been having dreams about meeting a woman from another country!

They were married within six months and now have the extraordinary relationship she always wanted.

Together they live their mutual dreams and he is everything she imagined and felt when she was magnetizing him to her. He says the same about her.

Her journey became her passion and now she teaches others that there is a better way than endlessly trying to search for love. She has gone on to help thousands of women all over the world to attract and keep an extraordinary relationship with the man of their dreams.

That woman is me, Julie-Anne Shapiro.

You can have the love of your life too.

Click on the links below to choose your path to love now.

DIY & Taster Path

Live Events Path

One-on-One Path

Click the video to watch Bob Doyle from "The Secret" interview Julie-Anne Shapiro on her journey to love.

